Monday 19th January 2015 • 5.00 – 6.00 pm
Frank and Katherine May Lecture Theatre
Henry Wellcome Building
Followed by a drinks reception

Professor Nikolas Rose
Department of Social Science, Health & Medicine
King’s College London

Nikolas Rose is a prominent British sociologist and social theorist. His work explores how scientific developments have changed conceptions of human identity and governance and what this means for our political, socio-economic and legal futures. Originally trained as a biologist, he has done extensive work on the history and sociology of psychiatry, on mental health policy and risk, and on the social implications of recent developments in psycho-pharmacology. Prof. Rose is a member of the Nuffield Council on Bioethics, and of its Working Party on ‘Medical profiling and online medicine: the ethics of personalised healthcare in a consumer age’.

“Human sciences in a biological age”

For further information contact Dr H. Brunskell-Evans (hbe1@le.ac.uk)
Please register with Lisa Boulton (lmb24@le.ac.uk) if you wish to attend