

Copyright and OERs: Do's and don'ts

DO use:	DON'T use:
Creative Commons resources with a compatible licence	YouTube resources which include infringing material
Limited extracts from your own work	Logos/Trademarks without permission
Your own photographs of everyday objects	Photographs taken within restricted environments (ie. archives, galleries, exhibitions) without permission
Sources where the licence terms explicitly permit your type of re-use	Extensive extracts from your own published work without checking your contract
Items out of copyright	Items from unknown sources or where copyright cannot be ascertained
Short quotes from published work as long as they are properly referenced	Screenshots which contain identifiable pictures or other personal information
Organisations providing advice and guidance: JISC - JISClegal, Web2Rights project, JISCdigitalmedia, Eduserv – Copyright Toolkit (in conjunction with Copy-Right Consultants Limited)	And finally, don't assume if it's on the web it's fine to use – check the terms and conditions/copyright notice or contact the site owner
