Three full-length issues of the newspaper/journal Turbulence: Ideas for Movement, of which I am a founding editor were published, as well as one pamphlet, Move into the Light? (November 2007). The texts have been widely circulated (Red Pepper magazine, for example, sent a copy of issue 5 to all of its subscribers) and PM Press has recently republished the first issue as above (see section 6.3 above). A Spanish-language edition was published in April 2010 to coincide with the World People's Conference on Climate Change and the Rights of Mother Earth (Cochabamba, Bolivia). My contributions include:

7. Turbulence Collective (2009) 'Life in Limbo', Turbulence, 5: 3–7. [Has been translated into Danish, Dutch, German and Spanish; published in Spanish-language edition (2010).]
8. The Free Association (2009) 'Mad dogs and Englishmen', Turbulence, 5: 29. [Has been translated into Spanish; published in Spanish-language edition (2010)]
9. Turbulence Collective (2008) 'Today I see the future', Turbulence, 3: 4–8.
10. The Free Association (2008) 'Six impossible things before breakfast', Turbulence, 3: 18–25. [Has been translated into French.]
11. Harvie, David (2008) 'The measure of a monster: capital, class, competition and finance', Turbulence, 3: 29–31. [Has been translated into German and published as a pamphlet.]
12. Turbulence Collective (2007) Move into the Light? Pamphlet. [Also published in ephemera (see section 6.1, above); has been translated into German, Italian, Spanish and Portuguese; carried as supplement to the German magazines AK — Analyse & Kritik (Issue 524, 18 January 2008) and Grundrisse: Zeitschrift fuer linke theorie & debatte (Issue 25, early 2008) and published in Le Monde diplomatique Brasil (16 July 2008).]
13. Turbulence Collective (2007) 'Are we winning?', Turbulence, 1: 2–3. [Has been translated into Italian, Swedish and Spanish.]
14. The Free Association (2007) 'Worlds in Motion', Turbulence, 1: 26–27. [Has been translated into German.]
