Q28 In what percentage of the arbitrations on which you have worked over the past 5 years was a challenge made to the jurisdiction of the arbitral tribunal based on the scope of the arbitration agreement? Note: This question includes any challenge that would require the tribunal to decline jurisdiction over all or part of the claim submitted to arbitration despite the existence of a valid arbitration agreement. It includes, therefore, challenges alleging that an existing arbitration agreement does not cover the specific subject matter under dispute; challenges on any other ground that would require the tribunal to fully or partially decline jurisdiction despite the existence of a valid arbitration agreement. Q62 Based on your professional experience over the past 5 years, would you characterise the approach taken by arbitrators in arbitrations in which you have been involved as inquisitorial or adversarial? Note: Approaches taken by individual arbitrators will, of course, vary. Please attempt nonetheless an overall characterisation that accurately describes the general trend, even though in individual cases this description might not be accurate. For the purposes of this question, a “highly inquisitorial” arbitrator will actively control the substance of the proceedings, specifying the issues to be addressed, questioning witnesses and counsel, raising arguments of his/her own, etc. By contrast, a “highly adversarial” arbitrator will leave the substance of the proceedings entirely under the control of the parties, and sees his/her role as primarily to deliver a decision at the conclusion of the proceedings, based on the evidence and arguments presented by the parties.
