Transcultural Learning: Revisioning Relationships in Teaching and Learning in Adult and Higher Education

Dr Karen Magro

UNIVERSITY OF WINNIPEG

This presentation will highlight key themes emerging in the literature on transcultural learning and new possibilities for education. The topic will have relevance for scholars and practitioners in the humanities, particularly for those in education, psychology, sociology, and applied health. This presentation will also address barriers such as persistent poverty racism, widespread conflict, sexism, and other injustices and inequities that stand in the way of building just, caring, and democratic communities.

1–2pm

Thursday 25 October

George Davies Centre,
Lecture Theatre 2

*This free seminar is open to students and staff
Refreshments available.*
