David Wilson Library

Supporting your research
We offer advice, training and services to help you to:

- Find information for your research
- Use specialist subject databases effectively
- Conduct literature searches and systematic reviews
- Manage your references with EndNote and RefWorks
- Organise and look after your research data
- Publish your own Open Access journals and reports
- Meet the University’s requirements to submit your thesis
- Comply with funders’ Open Access policies
- Analyse and maximise your citation impact
- Demonstrate your research impact using advanced bibliometric tools

How do we do this?

We:

- Provide online tutorials and lectures to train yourself at a time to suit you
- Provide workshops for postgraduate researchers and staff
- Deliver bespoke seminars and workshops to your research group or Department
- Offer 1 to 1 support in person, or via email, telephone or Skype
- Provide a dedicated Doctoral College Reading Room in the Library

All you need to access the thousands of eJournals, eBooks and other library resources available is a University IT account username and password. Your University card is also your Library access/borrowing card.

Thanks, I found the session really helpful it was exactly what I needed, everything explained in a practical way.

PGR Student – Search Strategies for Systematic Reviews

A very useful and instructive session today, thanks.

Staff - EndNote

Thanks for all the helpful #PhD research support workshops over the years.

PGR Student

Thank you Selina Lock for a very useful session on text mining – looking for opportunities now to apply it.

Staff – Research Elevenses: Unlocking REF2014, Text Mining to show your Impact

Thank you very much for making the recording and slides available. I’m very happy that the session was offered as a live stream for DL students like myself.

DL PGR Student – Research Elevenses: Making Research Information Come to You

Thank you for your help in selecting my cited papers for my recent NIHR Senior Investigator application - I was successful!

This document was published in September 2017. The University of Leicester endeavours to ensure that the content of its prospectus, programme specification, website content and all other materials are complete and accurate. On occasion it may be necessary to make some alterations to particular aspects of a course or module, and where these are minor, for example altering the lecture timetable or location, then we will ensure that you have as much notice as possible of the change to ensure that the disruption to your studies is minimised. However, in exceptional circumstances it may be necessary for the University to cancel or change a programme or part of the specification more substantially. For example, due to the unavailability of key teaching staff, changes or developments in knowledge or teaching methods, the way in which assessment is carried out, or where a course or part of it is over-subscribed to the extent that the quality of teaching would be affected to the detriment of students. In these circumstances, we will contact you as soon as possible and in any event will give you 25 days written notice before the relevant change is due to take place. Where this occurs, we will also and in consultation with you, offer you an alternative course or programme (as appropriate) or the opportunity to cancel your contract with the University and obtain a refund of any advance payments that you have made. Full Terms and Conditions and Senate Regulations governing our teaching programmes can be found here: www.le.ac.uk/offer-terms.
