Our ResLife team are dedicated to making sure that you have the best time possible in our accommodation. We understand that moving away from home is a big step, and some may take to it easier than others. That’s why our ResLife team are on hand to support your transition into halls. It’s perfectly normal for you to have moments when you struggle with university life. When you need some additional support, even if it’s just a cup of tea and a chat, the ResLife team are around to provide it. We also work in collaboration with University wide support services, so if we can’t help, we will be able to point you in the direction of someone who can.

Don’t worry, these events don’t stop after Freshers. We have a jam-packed events calendar throughout the year catering to all interests. Whether you want to continue with a hobby or discover a new one, it’s a great way to get to know people.

Residential Advisers

If you haven’t had chance to meet a Residential Adviser (RA) already, you soon will. Our RAs are current students who work as part of the ResLife team to support you during your time in halls. They are around to help you settle in to City Living, be a friendly face throughout the year and promote a sense of community. It is also their job to organise the City Living social calendar, so if you have any ideas for events, make sure you let them know! You can easily find one of our RAs, just look out for them wearing their green hoodies.

Remember to record your crime number.

Fire safety

We know that for most people, coming to university is the first time living away from home and learning to cook for yourself. Everyone burns their toast from time to time, but leaving cooking unattended is the most common cause of kitchen fires and unwanted fire alarms.

Cooking safety tips

• Read the instruction booklets to your oven and hob to make sure you are comfortable with how to use them*
• Make sure that grill pans are left clean to stop any leftover food catching fire
• While cooking under the grill never close the grill door
• Never leave your cooking unattended

You may also be tempted to decorate your room with fairy lights, candles, incense or other burning materials however these items are considered dangerous and are not allowed in our accommodation. If you are caught using any of these items you will be charged.

We also do not allow BBQs anywhere on University grounds.

Our accommodation is fitted with fire detection systems to provide the highest level of safety. If you are caught tampering with any fire equipment, you will be charged. This includes covering smoke detectors, obstructing fire doors, tampering with fire extinguishers and maliciously setting off fire alarms.

All charges can be found online at www.le.ac.uk/accommodation.

Electrical supply and equipment

Make sure that you do not overload electrical sockets by plugging in loads of appliances in one go. Do not use items such as kettles, toasters and irons in your bedroom. Fridges are not allowed in bedrooms, accept for medical reasons. Do not use electrical appliances in corridors.

Please ensure that all of your appliances are safe to use (check for the CE mark or the BS kitemark). If you plug appliances into communal areas they are your responsibility. The electrical supply in the UK is 230 volts. If you have any electrical equipment from outside the UK it may not be compatible so it is important that you check before using it.

All electrical appliances supplied by the University is PAT tested on a yearly basis. Please report any faults with electrical items using the online maintenance form www.le.ac.uk/maintenanceform.

We may remove any personal electrical equipment if we think it is dangerous.

* Instruction booklets for all appliances in your accommodation can be found at www.yourleicesterliving.co.uk as well as basic cooking tips and simple recipe ideas.
Behaviour and conduct

We want our accommodation to be a comfortable living environment for all of our residents, so it is important that you always act appropriately and consider fellow students, University staff and the local community. Remember that you are a representative of the University and any inappropriate behaviour could result in disciplinary action by the ResLife team, Academic Departments and even the Registrar if necessary.

Noise

Remember to always be considerate of your neighbours when you are listening to music or arriving home late at night. Make sure that you keep noise to a minimum after 11pm and we have a No Noise Policy during University exam periods to ensure that everyone is able to study in peace and get much needed rest.

If you have a problem with a noisy neighbour it’s important that you let a member of the ResLife team know, so that any issues can be resolved. Contact the Opal Court reception with any noise complaints and a member of the team will aim to respond within 30 minutes.

If you are persistently noisy and cause disruption you will be given a formal warning. Our full discipline procedure can be found online at www.le.ac.uk/accommodation.

Anti-social behaviour

We want you to enjoy yourself and have a good time, but it is important that you act appropriately and be considerate of others at all times.

Please be aware that the University has regulations on behaviour and conduct, which can be found online.

Any disruption or anti-social behaviour could result in a formal warning.

Damage

You must report any damage to facilities within your accommodation as soon as possible so that we can repair or replace items. If you cause damage maliciously or with intent you will be charged. If you live in a shared community you accept joint responsibility for the communal areas and that any damage caused will be charged to the group unless it is clearly linked to an individual.

If you do break anything, you can find a list of charges online at www.le.ac.uk/accommodation.

Any damage within our accommodation can be reported via the online maintenance form at www.le.ac.uk/maintenanceform.

Drugs

The University does not tolerate illegal drug use. Possession, supply and the use of drugs covered by the Misuse of Drugs Act (1971) is against the law.

If you are caught using, supplying or handling illegal substances you will be reported to the police. You will be reported to University discipline committee which could result in you being terminated from your course and receiving a substantial fine.

Remember that you are also responsible for the actions of any visitors, so if you allow the misuse of substances within your accommodation you are also committing a criminal offence under Section 8 of the Misuse of Drugs Act (1971). The University will always consider whether to take its own further disciplinary action once any legal process has run its course.

We have a number of support services available and we aim to signpost you to appropriate services if necessary. Please contact the ResLife team if you would like help in accessing any services.

This guide was published in September 2016. The University of Leicester endeavours to ensure that the content of its prospectus, programme specification, website content and all other materials are complete and accurate. On occasion it may be necessary to make some alterations to particular aspects of a course or module, and where these are minor, for example altering the lecture timetable or location, then we will ensure that you have as much notice as possible of the change to ensure that the disruption to your studies is minimised.

However, in exceptional circumstances it may be necessary for the University to cancel or change a programme or part of the specification more substantially. For example, due to the unavailability of key teaching staff, changes or developments in knowledge or teaching methods, the way in which assessment is carried out, or where a course or part of it is over subscribed to the extent that the quality of teaching would be affected to the detriment of students. In these circumstances, we will contact you as soon as possible and, in any event, will give you [30 days] written notice before the relevant change is due to take place. Where this occurs, we will also and in consultation with you, offer you an alternative course or programme (as appropriate) or the opportunity to cancel your contract with the University and obtain a refund of any advance payments that you have made.
