History of Art Major and History of Art Minor – overlap in modules

b) Course transfers

No requirements

11. Criteria for award and classification

As defined in Senate Regulation 5: Regulations governing undergraduate programmes of study.

12. Progression points:

There are no out-of-the-ordinary progression requirements between years, although students need to pass to proceed. In cases where a student has failed to meet a requirement to progress he or she will be required to withdraw from the course.

13. Summary of programme/pathway delivery and assessment:

The Major Pathway is intended to develop in students a broad and deep understanding of the history and theory of art focusing on the department's key research strengths in the Medieval, Renaissance, Modern and Contemporary periods. Assessment types are broad, taking in essays, exams, presentations, dissertations, group work, exhibition reviews and arts-related vocational exercises, all intended to develop a range of skills and competencies to enhance current understanding and facilitate future careers. Vocational elements (content and exercises) and object-related teaching are built into all levels of the curriculum, not least the Italy Trip at year 2, and is delivered by academics with wide and ongoing experience in the arts industries, including exhibition curatorship and auctioneering.

The Minor Pathway is intended to offer a more general understanding of the history and theory of art in the same broad areas and through comparable types of assessment as in the Single and Major.

14. Indications of programme quality

The contributing departments have both been rated 'excellent' in their teaching by the last subject-specific QAA inspection. In the 2014 REF both departments had 98% of their research judged to be of international excellence or significance.
