By the end of the module, students should be able to:

- Demonstrate an understanding of some key facts relating to political analysis, approaches to politics, democracy and theories of the state
- Demonstrate an understanding of a variety of topic in politics, power and ethics
- Demonstrate academic integrity in their submitted work through appropriate use of academic citation and referencing conventions in their discipline (for example in directly quoting or paraphrasing the work of others)

Teaching and Learning Methods

The module will be taught by a combination of lectures and tutorials. There will be two one-hour lectures per-week (16 in total) and one tutorial a week (8 in total). Lectures will introduce students to a topic and these themes will be explored in greater depth in a tutorial format.

In this module the importance and role of demonstrating academic integrity in academic work will be explained. Furthermore, this module upholds the university's regulations on academic misconduct by clearly explaining to all students what constitutes plagiarism, collusion and other unfair advantages in assessment (including clear definitions and examples) and by providing a familiarity with the penalties for academic misconduct.

The module will provide explicit guidance on how to demonstrate academic integrity, how to acknowledge the work of others appropriately and avoid plagiarism and collusion, including explicit training in how to reference any relevant type of existing work.

This will be delivered through a combination of course materials, appropriately contextualised instruction and experiential learning opportunities, and the compulsory completion by each student of an on-line tutorial on avoiding plagiarism, which will be recorded.
